Telegrams.

HAVAS

Rio 15th—Serious riots have occurred at Porto Alegre, owing to the imprudence of the authorities. The Vice-President of the province was forced to resign, and is succeeded by General Bitencourt. Order is now restored.

Rome, May 16th.—It is stated in military circles that General Ravenne will shortly replace General Orero as Commander-in-Chief of the Italian troops in Massawa.

Vienna, May 16th.—Telegrams from Bulgaria announce that the prosecution for conspiracy of Panitza and the others implicated with him will commence on Tuesday next. Much interest is displayed here in the details of the case, which promise to be most interesting.

GALVESTON.

Zanzibar, May 14th.—On the 11th, Captain Wissmann bombarded and took Sindy. Emin Pasha's expedition to the Interior of Africa has met with unforeseen difficulties. The expedition from Bugameyo, which left on April 28th, could only get five days' march from the coast, owing to death and desertions among the baggage train, a fourth of the whole being lost.

London, 14th—The Debats of Paris says that the reason for sending the United States Mediterranean squadron to Rio is the apprehended complications between Italy and the new Republic. Figaro maliciously insinuates that Germany is egging on Italy. Many Germans have returned from Brazil and claim damages for the injury to their interests. France would be delighted to see Italy trying to bully Brazil, and says that the United States will not allow any European power to interfere.

Hamburg 14th.—The strike of gas men has caused great excitement. Several persons have been injured by stones thrown at the tramways. The mounted police had to charge last night to clear the streets. Several arrests.

London 14th.—The Times correspondent in Vienna says that the withdrawal of Bismarck from public life has changed the views of the Czar, who is now more inclined for a German than a French alliance. The Czar has never believed in the stability of the Republic.

Rome, May 14th—Crispi stated yesterday in the Chamber of Deputies that there is no variation in the Triple Alliance that it was of a defensive nature only, and that our armaments are not rendered necessary by the alliance, but are measures for the defence of Italy.

Berlin, May 14th—In the Reichstag, in the course of the debate on the Military Bill, the Minister of War explained the bill, and Count Von Moltke spoke in favour of it. He declared that the European situation continued threatening, and that Germany ought to possess a powerful military system, as only a strong Government could hope to maintain peace.

Hamburg, May 14th.—The men on strike from the gas works, assisted by loafers, continue rioting; there have been fights with the police, with the result that many have been wounded and several ring-leaders arrested.

Bilbao, May 14th.—9,000 miners are on strike for an increase of pay and diminution of hours of work.

Berlin, May 15th.—The Emperor and Empress arrived at Koenigsburg yesterday and were enthusiastically received.

Bilbao, May 15th.—The men on strike are becoming dangerous, and threaten to assault the mineowners' houses; troops are guarding the factories and mills.

London, 16th—The Berlin correspondent of the Times says that Von Moltke's speech makes the passing of the German Military Bill absolutely certain.

Brussels, May 16th—The Independence Belge says that at the last meeting of the Anti-Slavery Association, the United States Minister objected to the proposition made by Belgium with reference to duties on importations from the Congo Free State, and the other delegates were surprised at this unexpected objection.

WEST COAST TELEGRAMS

Valparaiso, May 16th.—Sr. Barros Cavalcanti, the Brazilian Minister here, is suffering from a severe attack of pulmonia.

HISTORY REPEATING ITSELF.

More than once we have hinted at certain features of the political and financial situation that take us back to the days of the Avellaneda crisis and confirm the old saying that history repeats itself. It may be that crises spring always from the same causes, and that those causes bear always more or less the same effects, but the fact stands out that the Executive's appeal to Congress to provide for the collection of 50 per cent of the customs dues in gold finds its latest precedent in the crucial days of the Avellaneda government. Minister Uriburu has administered the first rebuff to the paper-money currency, which former Ministers had always protected as a national obligation and responsibility. This is the first step towards reform, and implies that the banks of issue are responsible for their notes, whilst the National Executive is at liberty to accept or refuse them in payment; a law of Congress can just as well authorize the executive to refuse such notes "in toto" as provide for their fractional payment in the custom dues of the nation.

Sooner or later, the National Executive will be forcibly impressed that these banks of issue must be forced to assume the responsibilities of their note issue and that if these banks fail to make provision for a gradual return to specie payments the national treasury need not suffer by such banking profligacy and be made the great victim by a falling-off in the revenue of at least 50 o/o. There may be no limit to the endurance of the market, but there is one to that of the government; and this first act of rebellion on the part of the Minister of Finance against the Free-banking Act is the snapping of the first big link in that dismal banking chain that has fettered the country to crisis and disaster.

"C'est le premier pas qui conte". It has taken two years to convince the Executive that it is the ill-starred victim of this very banking law it passed, not that the law was bad, but that its execution was not controlled and the road left open to abuse. It has taken a long time to convince the Government that it could repudiate the notes of these banks to the amount of 50 o/o in the collection of duties by a sympathetical appeal to Congress to save the exchequer from a colossal deficit. Let the banks of issue take notice of this new departure, for if Congress can grant a 50 o/o repudiation there is no reason under the sun why in some other emergency a total repudiation may not be voted in the law fixing that all duties shall be collected in gold and on a tariff on a gold basis. This is not probable, but it is not impossible; but we see in this departure from the old routine that a banking reform is imminent, for it has become imperious to safeguard the interests of the treasury at least, if not those of the market.

With regard to the merits of Minister Uriburu's Gold Duty Bill, none can deny that the Bill is plausible, nay necessary. Plausible, because the treasury has a right to defend itself against the depreciation of a note circulation for which the issuing banks not the Government must be made responsible; plausible, because it preaches a certain freedom of contract that is a most healthy sign in Government spheres and gives hope of a radical financial reform. As to the necessity of the Bill, this unlucky feature of the business requires some explanation.

There was no such necessity in February 1889 when Minister Pacheco had 49 millions of gold dollars lodged at sight in the vaults of the National Bank and Mint; nor was there any such necessity when on the 6th May 1889 the President showed in his message to Congress that the Treasury still held "available" 35 millions gold and 25 millions paper; but, to-day that the Treasury merely holds 17½ millions gold and 45 millions paper, both gold and paper lodged in the National Bank, and cannot lay hands either on the gold or on the paper, owing to a combination of aggravating circumstances we need not explain, the National Government has no other immediate measure of defence than to partially repudiate the depreciated currency in the collection of revenue. Furthermore the dead-lock in the cash assets of the Treasury is aggravated by the excessive falling-off in the revenue of the Government, partly, rather principally, owing to the depreciation of the currency, and partly owing to the falling-off in the imports of the country; in other words, the very paper figures of the revenue, depreciated as they are, are much under the figures of last year. Meantime the gold liabilities of the Government, provided for out of paper revenue in the Budget, have attained colossal proportions, owing to the depreciation of the currency. With paper at par, these gold liabilities would amount to 18,500,000$ m/n: with gold at 100 o/o premium they amount to 37,000,000: with gold at 150 o/o premium to 46,250,000$: with gold at 200 o/o, as was quoted last month, to 55,500,000$. It stands to reason that the exchequer cannot stand such a strain in an Ordinary Budget of 51,709,000$: the gold service alone is more than that figure. Including the extraordinary expenditure, the total budget of expenses for 1890 does not amount to 68 millions. Such a state of affairs could not continue, and hence the resolution to apply to Congress for authority to collect half the Customs dues in gold.

This measure, it is feared, must render the cost of living still dearer in our midst. That may be, but it bears with it a certain corrective which will impel the Government to adopt stringent measures to improve the value of paper: if not supported by some such steps, the new bill will bring matters to a head and intensify the dissatisfaction rampant in the masses. But we may rest assured that the new Finance Minister will spare no effort to tackle the situation and remove the great causes that have led to so many abuses and have culminated in the present situation. The Gold Duty Bill is a supreme necessity for the Government; to the market it is a bitter pill, but antidotes can be easily supplied.

Our Mails.

(Per F. M. S. Nerthe.)

London, April 19.

There was a formal sitting of the House of Lords yesterday, at which several bills were advanced a stage.

In the House of Commons Mr. S. Smith proposed a resolution in favour of holding an international conference as to the practicability of re-establishing a system of bi-me allic currency. This was seconded by Sir W. Houldsworth, and opposed by Mr. W. H. Smith and Sir W. Harcourt. Mr. A. J. Balfour spoke in favour of Mr. S. Smith's resolution, and Mr. Goschen against it. On a division the motion was rejected by 183 votes to 87—majority against, 96.

Much satisfaction has been expressed in Athens with the proposal in Mr. Goschen's Budget relating to the reduction of the duty on currants.

The trial of the action brought by Miss Emmeline Mary Hairs, thirty-seven years of age, to recover damages from Sir George Elliot, M.P., for alleged breach of promise of marriage, was concluded in the Queen's Bench Division. The plaintiff's cross-examination was terminated, and her mother and other witnesses were called, after which the defendant gave an absolute denial to the statement that he had ever promised to marry Miss Hairs. The jury deliberated for two hours, but were unable to agree upon a verdict, and were discharged.

Lord Coleridge and Mr. Justice Mathew concurred in making absolute the rule for a peremptory mandamus requiring the licensing justices of Holborn to show cause why they should not hold a special session to decide an application for the confirmation of the grant of a provisional licence to the Three Horse Shoes, Hampstead.

In the Queen's Bench Division a rule nisi was granted calling upon Dr. Barnardo to show cause why a writ of habeas corpus should not issue directing him to bring up a boy who was now an inmate of one of his homes, and whose mother, a Roman Catholic, desired that he should be placed in an institution connected with that faith.

Dr. Diplock concluded his inquest touching the death of Louisa Osborn, sixteen years of age, whose body was found ten days ago, with marks of violence upon it, in the Grand Junction Canal. Evidence was given by Dr. Bond, showing that all the injuries were caused after death, probably by the passing barges. The jury returned a verdict of found dead.

Penalties of £10 each were imposed upon Jacob Loteas and his wife at the Worship Street Police Court for breaches of the dramatic excise laws in carrying on the Hebrew Dramatic Club, Spitalfields, for the representation of stage plays and the sale of liquors without the requisite licenses. For a like offence fines to the amount of £175 were imposed upon Abraham Smith.

At the Derby Spring Meeting Lord Hastings's Jessamy won the Sudbury Stakes, Mr. R. H. Combe's Imogene the Welbeck Handicap, Sir W. Throckmorton's Albertine the Drakelowe Stakes, Mr. Abington's Freemason the High Peak Plate, and Mr. B. Maple's Ghillie Callum the Maiden Stakes.

Realizations caused some dullness in the Stock Markets. English Railways mostly receded, and Grand Trunks were hardly so good. American lines were steady, and Mexican railroads firm. Amongst foreign Government bonds Buenos Ayres Cedulas and Peruvian gave way. Consols declined 1-16 to 1-8 per cent.

LONDON LETTER

GENERAL GOSSIP.

(From our own Correspondent)

April 11th

One has no business to be in London this week. The clubs are empty. A trout-stream in Devonshire or even at Chenies, one of the Bedford properties just outside London within a short drive by the Metropolitan Railway, would be the correct thing. Being in town, there is nothing else to do but read the Times, which in a "silly season" is generally amusing but more than usually so now. It is quite laughable to see the Times rehearsing the part of a penny paper, and falling into the line of "new journalism." Great changes are at hand evidently in Printing House Square. The mock dignity and defiance of new ideas have yielded to the last blow dealt by Pigott. The Times cannot hear being ridiculed any longer and the Times Bill is so insignificant that it reminded one, as a half-penny journal told it, of the decayed gentlewoman who had to cry 'muffins' but did so in such low tones she was not heard. The Times has not got to "Is Marriage a failure," but is filled with letters on "Toronto Musical Degrees", and semi-serious subjects such as "The Archbishop's Appeal to the Clergy", "Tithes," "Adult Labor" "Beer Duties," and lastly and not least, a question started by Lord Bury who advertises for a "new verb," to be short, English and monosyllabic if possible, to describe the propelling of ship or launch or carriage by electricity. "To volt," "to ampere," "to ohm" are not approved. Volt is too much like "vault" or even "bolt" or "volte-face." "To ampere" is out of the question, and "to ohm" is unscientific because an ohm means the unit of resistance not motion, and besides, as a cockney suggested, "to ohm" would only be suited to a "return voyage." Here are some of the new verbs suggested in answer to Lord Bury's letter:—to motor, to mote, to tric, to amber, to electrate, to speed, to gleam, to spark, to squirm. The cleverest letter is written by the inventor of the last verb in this miserable collection. Ohm, sweet ohm!—fancy a man wiring to his wife that he shall "quirm home to dinner: and that she had better squirm to meet him." Squirm means to wriggle, to writhe like a snake. Mr. Attorney General Webster squirmed during the Parnell commission and in the House of Commons when he was accused and knew himself guilty of evil practices. "Squirm" was one of the words with "wobble" that Mr. Stead revived. Poor dear Mr. Stead, how we miss him in the Pall Mall Gazette; as we all miss Mr. Massingham from the Star. Those gentlemen were the life and soul of their respective papers. Neither one nor the other journal is now of much account. "Tay Pay" is a smart enough writer, but he bores us with Irish affairs. Massingham was really a powerful writer on any subject. Unhappily, like many young men of the day, he was bitten with Socialist opinions, which did not suit Mr. Brenner and the other Radical tradesmen who are the chief proprietors. Mr. Bernard Shaw, however, who is a Fabian and a great Socialist light, still writes "Our Captious Critic" column in the Star, and signs himself "Corno di Bassetto." He is a clever and rising young man; a trifle cynical and very egotistical. I regret to have to announce the death, at an early age, of another and once promising young literary Irishman, Mr. James Lecky, a great friend of Mr. Shaw's, and a contributor to the columns of THE BUENOS AYRES STANDARD. Mr. Lecky for twelve months before his death suffered from paralysis of the brain. A terrible warning to over-strained brain-workers.

"Mr. T. D. Sullivan's paper, the Irish Catholic, says:—"No formal decision has yet been arrived at by Mr. Parnell and the Irish Party as to their course of action with reference to the Land Purchase Bill. In an article it urges that the wisest and best course for Irish representatives to adopt is to facilitate the passing of the Chief Secretary's Bill in thoroughly amended form, as it will strike the deadliest blow at the so-called English garrison in Ireland which has been aimed at its members and its power since the days of James II. While endorsing any decision arrived at by Mr. Parnell and the Irish Parliamentary party, we (continues the Irish Catholic) implore them by their sense of duty to Ireland to consider this matter as Irish representatives only, and free from all sympathy with the limited views and selfish fears of the muck-talked-of British tax-payer, as well as with earnest determination to hurl back the libellous imputations indulged in by Lord Randolph Churchill and others on the honesty of our people and the credit of our country."

At railway stations—Tring and Weybridge—Mr. Gladstone has had two or three shots at the Bill, but he is still in a state of puzzlement, seeing that the Tories dislike it more than the Liberals. The Irish conservative landlords are some of them exasperated at Mr. Balfour's device for expelling the English garrison. The bill will give some trouble and perhaps surprises to both of the political parties. Lord Leitrim in to-day's Times opposes it strongly. The government policy may be to withdraw the bill and say with an apparently clear conscience "We have piped to you and you will not dance." That would be clever; but meanwhile the advanced Liberals may come to the conclusion that as the Conservatives have offered a democratic measure and have failed, the only resource is to pass over Mr. Parnell and Mr. Gladstone and follow Mr. Davitt in nationalising the land in Ireland, paying the landowners an annuity for a limited period on the security of the national property, which will at once rise in value.

You may perhaps know that Richard Davies the elder of the Crewe parricides was hanged at Knutsford jail. The Home Secretary was relentless. The boy with his dying breath asserted that although he instigated the crime and was accessory to it, he never struck a blow and never held the ax in his hand. No one receives this statement as an excuse for the criminality of the lad, but it strengthens the view that if one was to be reprieved, both should have been reprived; and could it have been a question between the two, then Matthews has decidedly hanged the wrong man. The execution of Richard Davies, who died without a struggle, has caused great pain in the district in which he lived and where all the circumstances of the case are known, and Mr. Matthews's last error will culminate his unpopularity, give rise to questions in parliament, and hurry the inevitable—the abolition of capital punishment. The abolition presupposes a highly civilised condition in a State, and an administration of justice and a prison system in the completest discipline. Richard Davies said in his confession that he stopped the trap in the lane in the Hough, but by arrangement between them George Davies was to be the actual murderer. Richard agreeing only to interfere if George were overpowered by his father. He describes the struggle between George and the deceased—how the boy stunned his father with the axe and threw him into the road and how George asked Richard to finish his father off with a pistol bullet, but he refused, and George again belabboured his father over the head with an axe until he was dead. The confession, much more detailed than the one read in court, was wired "in extenso" to Mr. Matthews from Knutsford but elicited no reply whatever. Mr. Gladstone is reported to have expressed the opinion that Mr. Matthews's decision was "monstrous."

There is a great deal of extra parliamentary speechifying going, all of the usual dull pattern. An exception must be made in favour of Mr. Chamberlain's speech reported in the Times to-day in the most approved Star fashion, which is really the old American fashion of heading out the salient points, something in this way:

"Gentlemen, in the whole course of my political career I have never stated, or would I now say, that Mr.

GLADSTONE IS A VILLAIN,

nor have I ever thought, or is it likely that I ever shall think, that all

IRISHMEN ARE ASSASSINS,

but this I can safely affirm, etc."

The new headings of the Times are of less importance than the singing leaders against Mr. Chamberlain in the Daily Chronicle, a former Unionist organ and Primrose Dame flunkey. Old Lloyd is just dead at 75. The young Lloyds, the present proprietors, have been a long time learning wisdom, but the Chronicle is at last turning and may eventually become readable. The Daily News too, throws off its cheap kids—a little soiled—and pitches bare-knuckled into "Joe," whom only by periphrasis it escapes calling "a cad." Cad, as he may be, he rules the lot of them. He carries about with him a very devil of a note book. He reminds the "Separatists" and even Mr. Parnell in particular, that on a certain date they approved a scheme of land purchase in Ireland concocted by Mr. Giffen. "Why," cries "Joe", "that's the very scheme of Mr. Balfour's Bill!"

RACING.

Two dead heats will make Thursday's meeting long remembered by those fortunate enough to be present at Palermo; nor was this all; with the exception of the last race when the stale Mariscal accomplished an absurdly easy task, the sport all round was interesting.

The Ecurie San Martin supplied a deadheater in each race and must be considered rather unlucky as, in the opinion of many, their representatives won by a head in each case. We certainly think that, had not the jockey of Maipu eased his mount opposite the paddock, he would have won very easily indeed; nevertheless, the performance of Asteroide under the steadier of 60 kilos must not be depreciated; a meeting between him and Boqueron would be a great draw, but the respective owners appear to be mutually diffident and they seem to agree to avoid each other. There are many who think that Asteroide would prove the victor, but at any distance over a mile we fancy the native could present him with 3 or 4 kilos.

Falucho's double penalty prevented him from absolutely winning the Premio Union, but still he struggled gamely and although to our thinking he just won, no exception could be taken to the judges' verdict. Solomon is this year indeed an unlucky animal!! There always seems to be some fatality against his winning, and in the premio La Patria, it was bad jockeyship that effectually prevented him from scoring. The son of Beauclerc always held a good place, but Verdun only called upon him for his effort about 100 yards from home, when Nogal was six lengths in front; well and gamely did the old horse respond, but the task was too great and he succumbed by half a length. Had he come earlier, as he could have done, for he was not shut in in any way the race was at his mercy, but the inexcusable riding of Verduri inflicted yet another blow on the hapless Prisionero stable.

Oliver made mincemeat of a fair field in the 3000 metre race, and has evidently been under-rated: he is certainly a glutton at this distance and his measure has yet to be taken, if liberally handicapped.

The other events were sufficiently interesting, but the public who travelled (save the mark!) homewards by the Northern Railway were not allowed to remain long without having their illusions of a thoroughly happy day rudely dispelled; the train jogged along at a snail's pace, making repeated stoppages, until at last the fury of the public was aroused and at the last stoppage they revenged themselves by breaking the windows of a passing train with their walking sticks. In Europe a "special" train is one that runs "specially" from one given point to another with precedence over the ordinary traffic; on the English-managed lines of this country, it would appear to be a "speciality" that a "special" should be "specially" slow. Unfortunately, the Northern line has a monopoly of the race traffic; why does not the enterprising manager of the Pacific railway run opposition trains to a station adjoining the Palermo course? the public would benefit by the competition and the companies would not suffer.

Maipu made running slightly in front of Huron, with Asteroide 3rd, Bienvenida and Nitouche next for about 400 yards when Maipu cleared the others; he was, however, soon afterwards headed for a short distance by Nitouche but before entering the straight regained the command, Bien Venida being 2nd and Asteroide 3rd, three lengths off. The leader now appeared to have the race at his mercy, but taking matters rather easily coming up the straight, was caught by the top-weight at the half-distance, whence a grand race ensued, the judges being unable to separate them; three lengths off Paygaveau and Mio ran a dead heat for second place. ## Railway Items.

At the Home Office yesterday a very lengthy document was received from Messrs. Sanford and Clark, who are desirous of resuming negotiations for the purchase of the Andine Railway. It is difficult to say whether the petition will be entertained by the Government but we hear on good authority that the Ministry may at any moment reopen the negotiations so summarily closed while President Juarez was in Cordoba.

Another letter has been forwarded by the Engineers' Department to the Ensenada Railway Company calling attention to the ricketty condition of some carriages and the filthy state of others.

Mr. Salustino Zavalia has been named first-class engineer on the Board of Public Works.

The 12 wagons which recently came out for the North West Argentine are not provided with brakes, for which reason the Board of Public Works will not allow them to be un on the line. Talking of the North West Argentine reminds us, that, according to the mails received yesterday, some severe attacks have been made on this concern in London.

The La Plata Department of Engineers have issued their report, which, strange to say, contains no railway news.

Messrs. Castro, Petty and Co., concessionaires of the Interior or Transversal Railway, have notified to Government that the name of the company which will carry out the works has been changed to Collett, Castro and Co., under which title it will henceforth be known. The primary works will now be commenced at once by two bands of engineers, one studying the section from Colonia to Durazno, the other undertaking the section from Durazno to the Brazilian frontier. This important line, it will be remembered, starts from the port of Colonia, taking a route north eastward through the centre of the Republic, meeting in various points all the lines diverging from Montevideo. It joins the Western Railway at Puntas del Perdido, the Central Uruguay at Durazno, the North Eastern at Puntas del Yi, and thence proceeds to the Brazilian frontier, towards Bagé where it will meet, the Provincial Railway of Rio Grande. As the Brazilian Government has lately conceded a guarantee of 6 per cent for the construction of the line between Porto Alegre and San Pablo, when the connection is complete, we will have through railway communication between Colonia or Montevideo and Rio Janeiro, and thence with many of the provinces of Brazil. It is hardly necessary to say that this is calculated to foster the trade between the two Republics, and will greatly reduce both the cost and the risk of transporting merchandise and produce, which has hitherto been done by water.

We received yesterday the following interesting communications:—

Seeing some discussion a short time ago in the STANDARD between two correspondents as to the merits of a line from Buenos Aires or Montevideo into Bolivia, I venture to assert that a better and shorter route from Europe exists. Allowing London to be the centre of the commercial world and not Buenos Aires, for example, the sea voyage should end at the port of Paranagua in Brazil. This would be a clear gain in distance to the ship of 900 miles, the distance between Paranagua and Buenos Aires. Now for the railway route to Sucre, the capital of Bolivia via Asuncion. The distance from Paranagua to Asuncion is 480 miles nearly due west. From Paranagua to the town of Cuoytiba (60 miles) a railroad exists worked by a French company. A railroad also is worked between Asuncion and Villa Rica; so we have only to line the ground between the Brazilian town of Cuoytiba and the Paraguayan town of Villa Rica. Taking a practicable route, avoiding some mountain ranges and rivers, this can be done in a length of about seven hundred and fifty kilometres, say 450 miles. Supposing this to be made, we have then direct communication from the sea to Asuncion; and from thence to Sucre a distance of about 1100 kilometres is now being dealt with under the Osborne concession in conjunction with the Paraguayan Land Company, who have now begun the earth works. Any of your readers who may be interested in this question can refer to a good map and measure the distance from Paraguay via Asuncion to Sucre, and if they also measure the distance via Oran from Buenos Aires to Sucre, they will find that the Buenos Aires route is a little longer. So this proves what I have stated above that the distance from Europe is fully 900 miles shorter to Sucre via Paranagua than it is via Buenos Aires. It may be asked what does Paranagua offer in the shape of a Port. It has an excellent landlocked Harbour with two entrance channels, with a depth of 23 or 24 feet on the bar at high water. The Latitude is 25 deg. 30 South, Asuncion lies on the same Lat. The gain in time and distance would be very great to the traveller from Asuncion to Europe were the aforementioned lines connected. It would be a clear gain of quite 1300 miles over the river voyage down to Buenos Aires in conjunction with the longer sea voyage to Europe, and I think it may reasonably be supposed that the traffic from Bolivia, Paraguay and most likely a good trade from Cuyaba and Corumba in Matto Grosso would make the line A grand undertaking for our Railway King.

Yours truly

THE POLITEAMA.

GRINGOIRE—LES PRECIEUSES RIDICULES—LES CHARBONNIERS.

A full house and an excellent bill of fare were the main features of the Politeama on Thursday night. The boxes and the cazuela were full of pretty faces blazing in jewelry, while the pit was crammed with the well-known "habitués" of every night. Theodore de Banville's idyl, Gringoire, was the "piece de resistance" and the great magnet of attraction. In the leading role, M. Coquelin revealed himself in a relatively new light to those who had never heard him in this difficult part. There is a wonderful fund of variety in this extraordinary actor; he monopolises the stage with an "aplomb" all the more admirable, as it is not assumed, and hence the facility with which he can make palatable the weakest pieces. In Gringoire however, he has a heavy task, and on Thursday night confirmed the great reputation he has earned in the past. Mdlles Lender and Kerwich were more attractive than ever and are now great favorites of the public. M. Duquesne, in the role of Louis XI. was very correct and up to the mark.

In Moliere's farcical Les Precieuses Ridicules the public had another peep into French life of the past. Mascarille has established his reputation throughout the world for centuries and will continue so in the future as long as there are Coquelins to play the part with such inimitable art and verve; but the audience forget Mascarille to admire M. Coquelin. Mmes. Judic and Barety were at a disadvantage as Mascarille was paramount, but they went through the chatter, chaff, cajoling, and cachinnation with an activity and endurance that deserve special mention. Mr. Coquelin's madrigal was superb and the laughter it elic coupled top and faultless back and ribs, while his legs are very flat and clean, and he carries plenty of the right kind of hair. His dam was by St. Mungo, a son of Prince of Wales. First Choice was exhibited by Her Majesty the Queen and was sold to Messrs. C. T. Getting and Sons for exportation to South America."

Business at the second hour was marked by another fall in the gold market, which astonished the whole market and nobody knows what to make of these sudden collapses, spurts-up-and-down that puzzle the very brokers who work the oracle. The quotation opened stiff at 239, rose to 239½, and looked like going to 250 when suddenly gold began to be avalanched on the buyers and rates tumbled to 238 in spite of the heroic efforts of the bulls to sustain the prices. For dates also sellers were most numerous and the fall equally notable. In stocks there was little movement, but prices were steady, and Cedulas shewed a slight improvement.

Exchange brokers report sterling stiff and francs rather flat, the quotation being 47⅞-48d, 5.02 francs Paris and 5.04 Antwerp. The National Bank continues drawing for French packet at 47½d. and 5 francs France and Belgium, taking paper for gold at market rate.

The Finance Minister has issued a decree extending the time for the payment of "patentes" by fifteen days.

The Committee appointed by the Government to inquire into the Rosario sewerage question met to-day at two p.m. in the bureau of the Minister of the Interior.

A meeting took place to day in the office of the Minister of the Interior to discuss Messrs. Bateman, Parsons and Bateman's claim relative to the division of the four and a half per cent, which according to their contract is due to them for the revision of the plans, inspection and direction of the "obras de salubridad." There were present Minister Zavalia, Mr. Bateman, Engineer Sarthy and Dr. Cullen the lawyer to the firm. An arrangement was drawn up to the effect that the Government are to pay Messrs. Bateman and Co. an amount equivalent to 4¼ per cent on the estimated works certified by the accountants for the months of December, January, February and March last, $100,000 down and the balance in the course of next month.

Mr. Anderson's visit to the Government House on last Wednesday, which we connected with the loan business, was of an entirely different nature. He waited on President Celman, in company with Mr. John Drysdale, about dredging the channel or canal into the Boca. We are pleased to say that President Celman has promised Messrs. Anderson and Drysdale to have the channel freed from all obstructions. Soon the north channel will be begun by the English contractors, and then we shall have the docks full of shipping.

Holders of National Bank Shares will be glad to hear that there is some prospect of the bank becoming a London joint stock concern. We give the news to keepholders of shares from parting with their shares in too great a hurry.

A meeting of Messrs Sansinena's creditors was held this evening. We believe the assets show well.

Mr. W. R. Lawson, correspondent of the Rialto, Statist, South American Journal, and other leading journals was welcomed to-day. We understand that Mr. Lawson intends visiting the inland towns of the Republic and leaves to-morrow for Rosario.

Mr. Walter Lenau, son of the late Don Federico Lenau, and partner of Mr. Cesar Stock in Hamburg, was welcomed on 'Change. He has has been many years away and is pleasurably astounded at the wonderful progress of this his country. He comes to extend the business operations of the firm and will probably remain several months in the Plate.

Wolseley Sheep Shearing Machine Company, limited.

This company is prepared to supply the Wolseley Sheep Shearing Machines, with their accessories, in any quantities. They are now coming into general use in Australia, where during the past season upwards of 7,000,000 of sheep have been shorn by hem; and it is confidently expected that even 20,000,000 will be shorn by them in that country this year. The following are some of their proved advantages over the ordinary shears:—

Estimated at per sheep per clip.

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| (1) | Increase is quantity and value of wool (See testimonials).... | 11d. |
| (2) | Increased value of pelts owing to total absence of cuts..... | 1 |
| (3) | Saving of 1 per cent. usual allowance for deaths resulting from cuts; nil with | 2½ |
| (4) | Saving of labor and time, as the work can be performed in half the time usually occupied with the old style of shearing.... | 1½ |
| | Total per clip per sheep..... | 16d. |
| (5) | Total absence of suffering to the sheep. | |

These economies add enormously to the income of the Australian wool-growers, and are applicable relatively to sheep-farmers everywhere.

The Wolseley machines may be seen in actual work at the Agricultural Rural Exhibition at Palermo.

For further particulars apply to the agents, Messrs. Agar, Cross & Co., Calle Defensa 121 & 136, Buenos Ayres, where certificates and testimonials can be seen.
